CARE OF POWDER IN MINING CAMPS

El Paso Discoverers Method to Eliminate Danger in Handling.

Mal Thomas McNulty, a mining man of this city, has furnished the following on the care of powder in mining camps:

"Editor El Paso Herald:

"Please publish the following in your valuable paper in order that I may reach not only the mining camps in our section of the Rocky mountains, but these in far distant climes, saving the miners from danger and probably many lives. I made the discovery 25 years ago and have had no trouble with powder since.

"To keep powder 'soft' in any climate, zero weather or colder, put your powder in an ordinary flour sack, then wrap in burlap in which salt pork has been wrapped. In the absence of such burlap, pickle an old blanket in strong brine, dry without wringing out, and then wrap the powder as above directed. It will be ready for use in 20 minutes or 20 hours. It will not be necessary to take the powder underground for immediate use."

JOHN HAYS HAMMOND PAYS TRIBUTE TO PROSPECTOR.

Says Hopefulness and Sanguineness of the Men Seeking Minerals Are Indispensable Qualities.

A great deal of literature has been written on the prospector, whose life of solitude, hardship and dreams of wealth appeal to the poet and romancer. The latest tribute is from John Hays Hammond in his recent lecture before the Y. M. C. A. in New York, as follows:

"From my experience with the miner himself, and I claim to be able to speak authoritatively on this subject, having spent many years in close association and on the most intimate terms with the miners of several continents. I know him to be a man of exceptional probity and it is but tardy justice to recognize this virtue. The miner, it is true, is hopeful and sometimes confessedly too sanguine, but these very qualities are indispensable to his vocation.

"This tribute applies particularly to the courageous, indefatigable prospector. I have met him on the ever frozen tundras of Siberia and in the impenetrable jungles of the deadly tropics. I have met him on the high peaks of the Andes and on the desert lands of Death valley. Wherever I have met him I have found him a man of hope of courage, of generous impulse.

"This prospector is above all others the real pioneer of civilization, antedating the missionary and the railroad surveyor, and his discoveries it is that have given the life blood to modern industry.

"Finally, if you have not been successful, blame not the honest miner on the industry because of the fact that you have not used good business sense and discrimination in your mining investments."

MANY MINES RELOCATED AT SYLVANITE, N. M.

Gold Miners' Continued Operations Cause Revival of Interest in the Camp—Rich Gold Quartz Found.

Sylvanite, N. M., Jan. 7.—There was a recent rush for open claims in this camp, where the lead work had not been done. Scores of saddle horses were mounted and soon the relocators were selling up the mountains. Some valuable properties are said to have changed hands in this manner.

The Gold Hill mines, of which I. Russell, is manager, is working ahead, the drifts still being in high grade ore, which has caused a revival of interest in the camp.

The expected visit of E. C. Newcomb, of Colorado Springs, one of the chief owners, to inspect the recent work done, is expected to result in operations on a much larger scale.

The work on the Creeper, owned by Birchfield brothers, is showing some wonderfully rich gold quartz.

KANSAS CITY MEN BUY PROPERTY AT FLOURIDE.

Flouride, N. M., Jan. 7.—The new year has marked the beginning of a new epoch in the Flouride mining district. C. F. John and associates, Brown and Yostes, of Kansas City, have taken over a property in Flouride consisting of three groups of claims consisting of gold, silver and copper, all centrally located in the Flouride mining district.

At present 15 men are employed deepening the shaft and as soon as sufficient depth has been reached 50 more men will be added to the force. The ore is a self-fluxing easily reduced ore, carrying tellurides of gold and silver averaging $30 to $35 per ton. By February a 50-ton smelter will be under way and development work is being pushed as rapidly as possible.

MARFA PEOPLE HAVE LINE IN MEXICO.

Frank Whelan, superintendent and manager of Luviva de Oro mine in the Migre district, Sonora, has returned to the United States. The owners are a close corporation, composed of Marfa, Texas, people. The development work is progressing steadily and ultimately the owners will install a milling plant. The ore is free milling gold and silver quartz. The mine is 2700 meters from El Tigre mine.

PROSPECTORS ARE LOCATING CLAIMS NEAR SIERRA BLANCA.

John Gilcrease, Jr., of Sierra Blanca, Texas, is in the city, and reports that Mayberry & McDonald are beginning work on their mines in the Quitman mountains, and that a good many prospectors are locating mining claims.

Good Resolution Girl

Types That We Meet Every Day.

By Bobbie Babbie

After all the noise and din, ushering the New Year in, by the fire Prudentia sits in pensive mood that fits "Now's the time," she whispers, "when I must make a few severe Resolutions for New Year."

"First—Resolved, that I won't be engaged at once to more than three. Last year, keeping track of five made my head buzz like a hive. Or, perhaps, I'd better say I'll have just one—Bobbie! Bless me! That's a most severe Resolution for New Year!"

"Second—I resolve herewith Not to flirt with Tommy Smith. Not to hint to Billy Shaw that I'd like to see a show. Not to mimic Polly Sage. Not to lie about my age—Oh! They're awful—these severe Resolutions for New Year!"

"Third—Resolved, that if I try Not to break these rules—oh, boy! I'll begin to fade away! All alone from day to day. For, of course, I'd be too good for human nature's daily food! I must make some less severe Resolutions for New Year!"

"Well, then, fourth and last of all (Guess I'll make this last one small!) Let me see. Because I break Every new resolve I make. Here's the best that can be done—Last—Resolved, I won't make one Easy, middling or severe Resolution for New Year!"

SATURDAY EVENING POST PUBLISHES EL PASO STORY.

Another El Paso story has the best position in the Saturday Evening Post this week. It is by Eugene Manlove Rhodes and is called "Good Men and True." The author is a native of New Mexico and has written a number of stories in which El Paso played a prominent part. The latest one is about the adventures of a visitor to El Paso in the gun toting days and a detailed narrative of his adventures on the border with a judge who is prominent, but secretly heads a band of murderers and smugglers.

ZELAYA FEARS FOR LIFE.

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Jan. 7.—Feeling an attempt will be made to take his life, Jose Santos Zelaya, former president of Nicaragua, is carrying a pistol. The police have warned Zelaya that they have received information that two Salvadoreans and an American are in Mexico City and are awaiting a favorable chance to take his life. Two secret service men have been detailed to accompany Zelaya.

CLOTHING AND BEDDING NEEDED.

Clothing, bedding, shoes or anything that will keep the poor people warm, is badly needed by the Women's Associated Charities and the people of El Paso are appealed to for any castoff garments or spare bedding that they can give. Telephone 1645 and they will be sent for, or send them to the basement of the courthouse.

KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE YELLOW LABEL.

All subscribers to The Yellow Label should watch the yellow label pasted on the wrapper or on the first page of their paper. The date printed thereon is the date of expiration of subscription. When a remittance on subscription account is made, this date should be changed. When it is not changed soon after remittance is made, allowing, of course, reasonable time to reach El Paso, the subscriber should immediately call the attention of this office to the oversight. By doing this when the matter is fresh in the minds of all concerned, all further trouble and inconvenience will be avoided.

Mrs. Catt Says 25,000 New York Women Support Their Husbands

New York's Working Wives Think Paying Rent More Vital Than Darning Socks.

SEES BIG PROBLEM IN THE DIFFICULTY OF COURTSHIP

Park Benches a Great Help to Marriage, Not Necessarily Unhappy Because Sudden.

MARRIAGE PROBLEMS OF A BIG CITY.

Twenty-five thousand wives in New York support their husbands.

Paying the rent is more important than darning socks.

There isn't enough work in the home to keep a woman busy today.

It's a good thing for wives to know how to help their husbands.

There is a job in New York for every man if he can find it.

There's no sense in a woman being idle when the man can't support the family.

Large families for the poor are a hardship.

Difficulties in the way of courtship is another problem.

New York, N. Y., Jan. 7.—"There are 25,000 wives in New York city who support their husbands," declared Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt today to a reporter for the Evening Telegram, "and then some men raise the question, 'Shall the women vote?'"

"The cry is often raised," continued Mrs. Catt, "that the women should stay at home and look after the children and darn socks. This is so foolish. What has a woman's voting got to do with darning socks? There is a greater problem than that in this or any other large city, and that is paying the rent."

"Men seem to think that the homes of today are very much as they were 50 years ago. As a matter of fact, there is a tremendous change in environment and conditions. The making of clothes and all those other household tasks of a half century ago are now transferred to the factory."

"There isn't enough in the home to keep a woman busy there all the time nowadays. So a great many of our five millions of women wage earners are performing almost those identical tasks in factories and getting paid for doing them."

"It isn't always the husband's fault," Mrs. Catt went on, "that their wives are obliged to support them. In my personal experience I have known of several wives who have been compelled to act as the bread winner through force of circumstances. One whom I have in mind now was a capable stenographer. Her husband could not find employment and she could not stay at home and look after their four children. It was a hardship on both of them."

"But it was better for them that the wife did have some business knowledge or their condition would have been much worse."

"The average man on a salary in New York gets an income barely enough to support his family on. If he gets a raise they live a little better, but rarely save any money."

The Fault.

"The fault for so many married men being out of work lies in the complexity of our city life. I am satisfied there is a job for every man in New York if he could but find it. The hard problem here is to bring the work and the worker together. Perhaps a state or city bureau of exchange that would have the confidence of the public might in time solve this problem."

"Conditions today for men and women are practically identical," Mrs. Catt asserted. "It is just as necessary, sometimes, and woman has exactly the same right to work as man. There certainly is no sense in a woman remaining idle when her husband can but half support the family."

"Women are not in the way of men, despite the many statements to the contrary. There is no conflict of the sexes in the industrial world. Each has his and her special occupations, both of which have vastly increased in the last few years."

"Years ago women at times did get in men's way when they worked cheaper, but that sort of competition is practically done away with. Women now demand and, for the most part, get a man's pay."

Urges Marriage.

"I don't believe, however, that a young woman whose lot in life falls among the wage earning classes should not marry. Marriage is a good thing. Life is more complete for the congenially wed. I would advise girls not to marry for money.

MRS. CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT

"It is a great pity that the men and women of this city have so many obstructions to marriage. It is so difficult for young women of a marriageable age to meet men in a similar position who are suitable. It is hard to make acquaintances here.

"Opportunities for courting in New York are scarce. It is another of our problems. In the summer young folks can sit in the parks, but on a day like that of the big blizzard, courting would not be very romantic," added Mrs. Catt laughingly. "I do not believe that unhappy marriages are due to haste in choosing. In fact one of the happiest couples I know fell in love at first sight."

"There are two reasons for unhappiness: False pretenses, where both are deceivers. This always results in disaster. The other is lack of ability intuitively to discern character."

Cold Weather Negligee

BOUQUIER, DOWN, POSED BY MISS WELLINGTON OF THE BELL OF BRITANNIA CO.

Even in heated bedrooms a warm negligee is best for the semi-invalid whose circulation is apt to be low, and a model-like garment of fine rose pink albatross would be most desirable. It is both light and warm, shows the new sleeve, cut in one with the body of the garment, the end of the sleeve being drawn in around the wrist to insure warmth. The negligee is belted in loosely below the waist by a strip of the heavy lace which forms the trimming. The draped scarf, of rose pink liberty silk, adds beauty to the model.

Health Cranks and Food Faddists

Have Evolved Some Strange and Wonderful Theories Concerning Stomach Treatment.

A Trial Package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Sent Free.

Within the last 20 years there has sprung into existence theories by the score relative to the kinds of food that human beings should eat, and should avoid. With the tremendous increase in nervous and stomach diseases which are caused by the strenuous life of this neurotic, neurasthenic age in which we live, we are constantly having our attention called to some food faddist's "new idea" on the subject of alimentary habits.

Most prominent among these theorists is the vegetarian who insists that meat was never intended for the human stomach, despite the fact that his ancestors for 6000 years or more, used it as their principal article of diet; and the old patriarchs of Biblical History who lived to prodigious old ages, were meat eaters. All of the great nations of history have been users of meat, and all of the most powerful and advanced countries of today employ it extensively in their dietaries, and their superior development and high degree of civilization are in strong and striking contrast to the decadent and degenerate nations of Asia and the tropics, whose inhabitants are vegetarians.

Another fallacy which has lately become a fad, is the so-called "low-protein" diet. Now, the foods which are rich in protein are the ones which build up nerve, brain, muscle and blood, so that any great reduction in the amount of protein used simply means semi-starvation for the most important centers of the system—the ones on which we depend the most to enable us to successfully fight the battles of life. Those nations whose people use foods containing but little protein are never of large frame or well-built. The Japanese, who have always been advanced in stature, have, since adopting a more liberal protein diet, shown a remarkable increase in size, vigor and general development; and it is only since Japan became a meat-eating nation that it has developed into a world power.

Still another theory lately advanced is that sugar, pepper and salt are gastric irritants and irritate the mucous membrane of the stomach, although it is known that sugar possesses a high caloric value, while pepper and salt assist digestion rather than interfere with it, as is claimed.

The no-breakfast plan, the two-meal per day, and even the one meal daily have been advocated, while some advise a two or three weeks' fast, during which all food is withheld from the stomach "to give it a rest," completely ignoring the fact that the system's tissues are being constantly worn down and cast off, and new material to rebuild them must be supplied from the food.

It is utter nonsense to concern one's self about all these absurd and illogical theories, as life is entirely too short, and there are other things requiring our attention. Eat what you want when you want it, and as much as the system needs to replenish its waste, and then take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and forget all about food fads and stomach troubles. They digest all kinds of food so thoroughly you won't know you have a stomach. They are powerful digestors of every kind of food through harm less to the system, and may be taken at any time and in any quantity.

SON IS HELD FOR THE MURDER OF HIS MOTHER

Champion Scene of a Horrible Crime—Matriarch Dies Away With Her Parents.

Merida, Yucatan, Jan. 7.—A horrible crime has just been committed at Champoton, state of Campeche, where Jose Ramos killed his mother, Nicolasa Chable in the annual fair at that place. Ramos had been drinking hard all day, and when the hour for the bullfight came his mother objected to his going, and when he refused to obey her, she slapped him. They apparently made up their quarrel, for they both went away together at nightfall, to the place where Ramos worked, in seeming harmony.

The next morning the latter went around from house to house, asking for his mother. In fearful voice, evidently with the intention of dissuading his crime. Her body was found on the beach with the cranium smashed in, and signs upon the body indicated that she had been dragged through the sand with the apparent intention of burying her.

Ramos denies having been the author of the crime, but stains upon his clothing, and other signs which indicate that he had been in the sand have given people generally the profound conviction that he is guilty of matricide.
